What are earth leakage circuit breakers?

Our earth leakage circuit breakers protect against earthing faults. We stock advanced electronic Residual Current Circuit Breaker (RCCB) and Residual Current Devices (RCDs) for use in residential and industrial applications. Our RCD modules can be attached to Moulded Case Circuit Breakers.

When does an earth leakage breaker trip?

An earth leakage breaker trips as soon as it detects a current flowing to ground. This happens, for example, when you grab a live wire and the current flows through you to the ground you are standing on, or if there is a fault in the system causing current to leak to ground.

Why is an earth leakage breaker necessary?

An earth leakage breaker is necessary to provide a key safety mechanism that reduces the harmful effects of most faults caused by the live wire touching something it shouldn't. This is achieved by connecting the earth wire to both the physical ground and the neutral point at the source of power.

When does an earth leakage current interrupt a circuit?

They interrupt the circuit automatically when these currents exceed a predetermined value. An earth leakage current is the current flowing to earth from live parts of an installation. This holds true for three or four wire circuits, whether or not the load is balanced or unbalanced.
