Tunisia exports energy storage

Can Tunisia export green electricity?

Exploiting its renewable energy potential will also allow Tunisia to export green electricity, including green hydrogen, contributing to the GHG emission targets of the Maghreb and Europe.

Can Tunisia export green hydrogen to Europe by 2050?

Tunisia aims to export up to 6 Mtof green hydrogen to Europe by 2050. The Ministry of Industry, Mining, and Energy defines and implements the energy policy. It regulates the public energy companies through two directorates: the General Electricity Directorate and the General Hydrocarbons Directorate.

Does Tunisia have a decarbonised economy?

A comparison of the 2030 and 2050 results clearly shows energy exchange between regions as Tunisia progresses towards a decarbonised economy, reliant on more variable generation and the consumption of electricity in lieu of fossil-fuelled energy (i.e., gas-fuelled end uses and gas-powered electricity generation).

Can Tunisia build a reliable electricity supply?

We found that Tunisia can cost-effectively build a reliable electricity supply based on local power generation, with high proportions of solar and wind power. With an onshore wind potential greater than 30 times the projected 2050 demand and a solar potential greater than 100 times that demand, Tunisia has exceptional renewable energy potential.
